Do not ignore the iPad and iPhone opportunity

It is well established that the Apple iPhone is a phenomenon - its high adoption rate and usage is evidence of this. Its market share continues to grow, it accounts for well over 50% of all US smartphone usage. The new iPad and iPhone 4 are set to continue building on this success.

However, it's an overcrowded marketplace over there with thousands of applications on the App Store across categories. To stand out, you need to work with an established partner - one that has the right Apple credentials.
